Augusta University/Medical College of Georgia has an immediate opening for an Addiction Medicine physician or Addiction Psychiatrist to serve as an Attending Physician.

The Department of Psychiatry and Health Behavior of the Medical College of Georgia seeks a full-time faculty member board-certified or board eligible addictionologist to lead departmental clinical and educational activities related to addictions. Additionally, a candidate who is board certified with three years of clinical experience in addictions may be considered to lead our fellowship training program in addictions medicine. Board eligibility in Anesthesia, Family Medicine, Internal Medicine or Psychiatry preferred.

The successful candidate will provide medical services to patients suffering from all substance use disorders, and implement appropriate maintenance pharmacotherapy including buprenorphine as well as provide as needed ambulatory detoxification services. Competitive salary and benefits. Candidates should have fellowship training in Addiction Medicine or Addiction Psychiatry and be Board Eligible or Board Certified in Addiction Medicine or Addiction Psychiatry. Candidates must also have a proven track record of academic progression in the field of addiction and be eligible to obtain an active and unrestricted license to practice medicine in Georgia, as well as a federal buprenorphine waiver from the DEA.

The Department of Psychiatry is a vibrant community of clinicians, researchers, educators, and trainees committed to discovering the causes of, and better treatments for, mental illness. We currently have an active Addiction Medicine Fellowship through ABAM and in the process of obtaining ACGME accreditation.

We provide care to individuals with a broad range of mental illnesses using a team approach, including psychopharmacological care and individual, group and family therapy. The service is a major teaching site for psychiatry residents, medical students and physician assistants.

Qualifications:

- Board-certified/Board-eligible in Addiction Medicine or Addiction Psychiatry
- Fellowship training in Addiction Medicine or Addiction Psychiatry
- Qualifications for Assistant Professor or higher level faculty appointment
- Collaborative, proactive, and dedicated work ethic
- Commitment to high-quality, cost-effective health care
- Desire to grow professionally within a team-oriented, performance-driven department
About The Medical College of Georgia:
The impact of the state of Georgia's only public medical school spans from its founding nearly 200 years ago, in 1828, as one of the nation's first medical schools to its current role optimizing health care in Georgia and beyond through education, discovery and service.

The Medical College of Georgia educational experience is anchored by the main campus in Augusta as well as regional clinical campuses for third- and fourth-year students and a second four-year campus in Athens in partnership with the University of Georgia. The state's medical school also offers clinical training in more than 350 sites across the state providing students experience in the full spectrum of medicine, from tertiary/quaternary care hospitals to small-town solo practices. MCG and its teaching hospitals provide postgraduate education to more than 500 residents in 48 different programs.

Our researchers and clinicians focus on illnesses that affect most of Georgia and America's children and adults, including cardiovascular biology and disease, cancer, neurosciences and behavioral sciences, public and preventive health, regenerative and reparative medicine, personalized medicine and genomics. Our clinical faculty also share their expertise with physicians and patients at about 80 clinics and hospitals statewide.
